- 1. There are many factories in Kazanluk, but the most important are the two military factories, Zavod No. 10 and Zavod No. 13:
  - a. Zavod No. 10 employs ten thousand laborers on a three shift, seven day week basis in ten working shops and a powder manufacturing section. Production includes Russian type gums, automatic rifles, revolvers, hand grenades, bombs, and bullets. Employees have special entry permits; unauthorized personnel are excluded. Nost of the workers live in special quarters near the factory.
  - b. Zavod No. 13 employs from 2000 to 3000 workers in the repair and manufacture of aircraft motors. They also make training planes, dentist chairs and engines.
- 2. In the summer of 1950 seven or eight Russian and Czechoslovakian specialists came to Kazanluk to inspect the factories and vicinity.
